

Total Email Security

Email is a critical communication tool for most organizations. Considering the constant threat of malicious software, viruses, and phishing exploits, email security is a key component in keeping your systems, data, and communications protected. NMGI's email security solutions provide total control and all-around protection for your inbound and outbound email.

Email Scanning and Filtering

Email is one of the most commonly exploited applications. With NMGI's anti-spam and email filtering solution, mail is screened for malicious attachments and content in the cloud, and spam is blocked and quarantined before it reaches your inbox.

Key Features

- Active Directory integration
- Easily set filtering sensitivity
- Scheduled quarantine reports
- Allow and block lists for individual addresses and entire domains
- User control panel
- Permitted languages and countries
- Malware and virus scanning

Email Archiving and Continuity

Relying on email as a core business communication channel means ensuring continuous operation and preserving important correspondence. Unplanned service interruptions and data loss cost businesses time and money. NMGI's email archiving and continuity solution provides a secure way to send and receive email even if your mail system is down.

Key Features

- Active archiving for incoming and outgoing email
- Self-service email recovery
- 24/7 email continuity
- Full integration with Microsoft Outlook

Secure Email Encryption

As the threat of identity theft and data breaches increases, email encryption is necessary for protecting sensitive information in email messages and attachments. Companies that do not encrypt email that contains sensitive information are at risk of regulatory fines, lawsuits, and negative PR. NMGI's email encryption solution allows users to send and receive encrypted email seamlessly and securely. Protect your customers and yourself with a cost effective email encryption solution from NMGI.

Key Features

- Force encryption by using a keyword in the subject line
- Custom branding
- Automatically detects and encrypts sensitive information such as social security numbers
